School Improvement

Mrs Warner and I carried out some book scrutiny this week to support one of our whole priorities, which is improving writing throughout school. It was a pleasure to look through all the children's writing and handwriting books and we can see how hard both the children and the staff are working to improve their skills. Correct letter formation is our main focus for handwriting lessons at the moment, with writing stamina and productivity being something we will continue to focus on as we move forward.

Message from Mrs Crossley

Today saw our first celebrations worship of the school year. It was lovely to share awards from outside school that the children had achieved and also to hear about who has been working hard in class to earn housepoints and impress their teachers. From next week, the ACE Committee (Aberford Children's Ethos Committee) will take over running this collective worship in school each week on a Friday.

Message from the Office

Roundhay Music have informed us that if your child is wanting to start violin lessons, they are able to loan you a violin if needed. Please contact them for further information.
