Weather Next Week

The Met Office has extended an amber extreme heat warning for Sunday 17 July, Monday 18 July and Tuesday 19 July, as temperatures will build this weekend and early next week for much of England and Wales.

Please make sure children come to school in loose clothing and bring a water bottle every day. Make sure they have sun hats and sun cream and we will shorten outdoor break times on Monday and Tuesday so that children are not exposed to the sun for too long. Fortunately, the main school building is not too bad with it being stone. KS2 classrooms will be kept well ventilated and classes may use the hall instead if needed.

The DFE have advised schools not to close, but just to take sensible precautions.

Oliver

Key Stage 2 children absolutely blew us away this week with their amazing performance of Oliver Twist. The singing and acting was outstanding and they all performed like true professionals in spite of the heat in the village hall! I am sure those of you who were lucky enough to see the production would agree that our Key Stage 2 children have oodles of talent and pulled off both performances brilliantly. We couldn't have asked for more and we are so proud of each and every one of them 😊

Message from the Office

Please can all reading and library books be returned to school by Monday.

Thank you
