

Ash Class News

What a fabulous Autumn term we have had. This term we are looking at the Greeks and what a brilliant topic it is.

- In class I have adapted the story of Medusa and Perseus into a poem. This has made what can be quite a long story a lot more understandable.
- There have been lots of different sensory based activities to cater for the different types of pupils in ash class like making salt dough brooches and vases.
- The children thoroughly enjoy attention autism and sensory bingo both of which happened twice a week. We also have a sensory version of our story of Medusa and Perseus.
- In maths, we have been looking at adding and subtracting. Some children have used a tens frame and others have been using a number line. We continue to make sure they count objects without missing numbers and practice of this skills needs to continue.
- In PE, we have been learning how to play Hockey. Carefully holding a stick and learning how to pass a puck from friend to scoring a goal.
- In our My World lessons, we have been learning about Greece, eating Greek food and we looked at what the best material is for a waterproof Toga!!

Finally, this week we went to the Walker Gallery in Liverpool! We looked at all the different Greek inspired painting, drawing shapes and black puddles. We then went into the Statue Gallery to look at all the different Greek Statues. We used modelling clay to make our very own creature! What a fantastic day we had!

We used our communication books to look for shapes.

We made models of different creatures.

We drew black puddles

We used our communication books to look for colours.
