

Seedlings Class News

Our topic for this half term is 'Keep calm, it's all about me'. We are learning about ourselves and our senses. We have been naming and identifying our body parts; using our senses to hear, touch, taste and smell and we will be talking about our families and what we looked like as babies.

We have a home role play area in class and a range of dolls and small world toys to represent humans and families. Many of the children play with the dolls. We have been dressing the dolls and giving them bottles.

We have made the most out of the hot weather and all the children are engaging well in the water play exploration sessions.

Our main story this term is The Gingerbread man - the children are listening well to the story. Many of them are showing anticipation and they can recognise the key elements of the story with the aid of visuals, props and sensory experiences. Some of the children are joining in with the repeated refrains.

The children have been developing their fine motor skills through activities such as exploring our gingerbread playdough.
