

Ash Class's Weekly News

12th March 2021

This Week... well it has been great to be back it has also been great to see Sam and Hendrix. It has been so long. So far the children have seemed to settle back into routine very well. This week in maths we looked at subtracting using cubes and counters and numberlines. In literacy we started to look at the news and we recorded the weekend news, I will post those videos this weekend. In science we finished work on food chains and art we made a Mothers Day card. In PE we started a games unit that focuses on throwing and in finally we practiced our comic relief dance. Its been a jam packed week. Have a great weekend.

Next Week... we are looking at writing our very own newspapers article.

And finally the star of the week is...
