

Ash Class's Weekly News

4th February 2020

This Week.... We have continued to look at the Three Little Pigs. We have been practicing retelling the story in preparation for retelling it in front of the green screen. We have also changed our roleplay area to a 'Stage' and we will keep this for the rest of next term. We have a microphone, lights and our very own box office. In art we have been looking at Kandinsky and mental health week. Kandinsky liked to paint to music and colour can represent different feelings so this week we listened to different pieces of music and painted how we felt! Finally, in baking we made our very last mug cake recipe. This has been a great series of recipes using the microwave and the humble mug! I do hope you have enjoyed it to.

Next Week...

It is our final week before we break up and we will be looking at Chinese New Year!

Reminders

We will be breaking up on the 12th of February and will return on 22nd.

We will be keeping the current format of part and full time schooling for some and home schooling for others until at least the 8th March unless we hear different.

Stay Safe.

And finally the star of the week is...

For focusing during PE and working on his jumping skills!
Well Done Patrick Jackson!
