

Pine Class News

This week has been very busy with lots of exciting new things and special days for us all to try and take part in.

We started the week off with exciting cookery lessons exploring making, creating and eating our own freshly made pancakes. We all loved having a go at pancake tossing and most importantly choosing our own toppings before getting to do our taste tests. Yum Yum!

Tuesday was St David's Day where we had a great attention autism session exploring different items relating to Wales. We weren't too sure about tasting the Welsh Cakes or smelling the spring onions but we really enjoyed exploring the daffodils and waving the Welsh flag! In the afternoon we had a creative session where we explored painting with different implements and made some daffodil pictures. All the children worked hard to follow instructions and to work more independently which we were all really proud of!

We enjoyed our music lesson and sensory story for topic on Wednesday. We are doing really well with anticipating the different sensory props and engaging well with the signs relating to the story.

Thursday was World Book Day and we all had a great time. We were all really colourful with our outfits and had great fun exploring all the fun things around school. We went on a door hunt exploring the different classes, cosied up with some books in the reading snug and had a great time in the sensory room where we explored the World Book Day sensory story.

We ended the week with a lovely day filled with sensory play, PE. walks and the sensory train. What a jam-packed week - we are all definitely ready for the weekend!

Hope you all have a lovely weekend!!
