

We have had a great week in Elm class, enjoying our "In the wild" theme! The children are making super progress and are having fun dressing up and playing together. We have focussed on developing our play skills and taking turns a lot this week. There have been some wonderful moments where the children are waiting and taking turns, sharing resources which is great to see!

This week the children have enjoyed doing some role play – bathing dolls and being animals in the jungle! They have played well together sharing resources and turn taking.

They enjoyed an animal hunt in the sensory room – some jungle animals were hiding all around!

In Attention Autism the children made a giant Giraffe!

Our arts and crafts this week included colourful Parrots and animals footprints! Our wall display is really starting to take shape – the children have done some wonderful engaging in these tasks – painting, gluing, sticking and making choices about their artwork!

We continue to encourage independence and the children have been doing well completing tasks given, locating their own items (books, coats) and some of them did some marvellous changing for PE!

We enjoyed our sensory stories this week again and some children remembered the stimuli from the previous sessions, showing anticipation/excitement for favoured ones.

Excellent communication throughout the week and transferring skills around school – outside, in the hall, in the sensory room, at dinner etc

Overall a fabulous week, full of fun and learning!!

Have a fabulous weekend

From all of the Elm Class Team 😊
