

We have had such a busy week again here in Elm Class. The children are working so hard as usual. We have had some fun outside again in our Forest school, on welly walks and making use of the big yard for active time! It's such a hard job choosing the pictures for the blog each week – there are always so many wonderful moments to choose from!

Signs of spring everywhere at the moment!

Working on our Targets!

Super Stars!!

REMINDERS-

Thank you so much for all the contributions for our sensory resource pot. This is very much appreciated!

We have started to stock up on things we need this term which is great!

Our caterpillars will be arriving next week - very exciting!!!

This week we have been having fun working on our targets, making the most of the dry weather and working on our independence.

The children are making super progress and continue to try hard. Our bug hotel is taking shape in our forest school and we have enjoyed seeing lots of signs of Spring on our weekly welly walk. The children touched and smelt blossom, found blue bells, blew dandelion clocks and climbing/ balanced on the big log. We even found an empty birds nest on the floor – we took it back to school to show people!!

We are doing some great work at the workstations and the children are communicating their wants and needs using lots of different means – PECs, communication books, signs and switches.

We had fun getting pennies in exchange for our stars and spending them in our 'tuck shop' Bethany enjoyed being able to buy a flapjack especially during our number song session!

We hope you all have a great Bank Holiday weekend, fingers crossed we see some sunshine!!

Enjoy!

From all of the Elm Class Team 😊

Learning is fun!
