Frequently Asked Questions:

Does my child need to be able to speak a language other than English?

No. Application for places is open to all students but, should your child gain a Language Scholarship place, they will be expected to take at least two languages at GCSE Level.

Which languages will be taught at Ada Lovelace?

Students will be able to study French, German and Latin as part of the Core Curriculum and Spanish as part of the Extended Curriculum.

My child has language lessons outside school, should I continue with these or learn with the Ada Lovelace Language College?

It is up to you whether you decide to receive private tuition in languages other than French, German and Latin and this will be something that will be discussed further at your child's induction interview should they be successful.

My child has already passed a number of exam grades in another language, will this help my application?

No. The application process takes no account of previous experience although this information is always useful to us should they be offered a place.

My child is involved in lots of extra-curricular activities already, what commitment will they need to show to Ada Lovelace?

Students enrolled on a 'Language Scholarship place will be expected to commit to a minimum of two hours' per week of wider learning within the Computing or Languages Departments, for example attending Coding club or similar digital enrichment activities. This may also include a commitment to participating in foreign exchanges and hosting exchange students. Language Scholars will be given a discount on foreign exchange trips.

My child has a Special Educational Need. Will they be given a concession during the application process?

The application form has a section where you can provide us with as much information as possible regarding any special educational needs your child has. Your child's current school will need to provide full details of the level of support currently provided during assessments so that we are able to make arrangements as deemed appropriate.
