

As part of our work as a language hub, Ada Lovelace is taking part in the Arabic Reading competition. By taking part, participants can build their confidence in reading, improve fluency and comprehension, expand their vocabulary, and compete for a prize.

The competition is working with Guest Author 'Sonia Nimr'. Sonia Nimr is a Palestinian writer, storyteller, and academic specialising in children's and youth literature in Arabic.

What is involved? Students choose one story from the competition list. They practice reading this, then read in front of a selected panel, and then answer follow-on questions.

Prizes = £100 voucher for the top 4 students
If you would like to enter the competition, email Ms Lyon by Wednesday 29th January 2025
