Can anyone break a record if they try hard enough?

In the news this week

Guinness World Records is celebrating its 70th anniversary this year. The book was first published in 1955, and is now sold in over 100 countries. Each year, it collects unusual and amazing records, from the fastest runners to the tallest buildings and silliest challenges. To mark its birthday, the 'global authority' on record-breaking achievements shared some records that no one has tried yet and is encouraging people to have a go.

Things to talk about at home ...

- > Ask someone at home whether they are familiar with the Guinness World Records. What records can they recall?
- > Discuss the skills required to break records. E.g., hard work and ability.
- > Think about something you would like to get better at this year. What goal could you set and how might you achieve it? Share with someone at home.
