The opening of our new classrooms

After months of building, Shabana Mahmood MP, opened our wonderful new set of classrooms with help from School Councillors. The new classrooms replaced the old huts. They are superb and attractive places for our pupils to learn with three classrooms and a set of toilets. One classroom will become our new library; the other two are Mrs Rai-Moore's and Mrs Saxena's classroom.

How it used to be

The old classrooms that were demolished last summer.

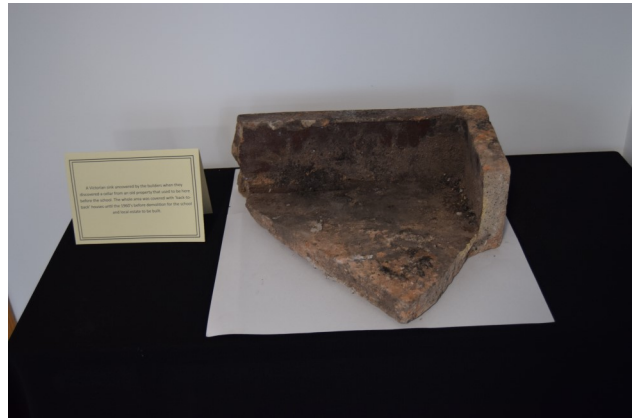

The new classrooms

These have been built with high quality wood designed to last.

The veranda which allows staff and pupil to walk from the main area.

A Victorian sink uncovered by the builders when they discovered a cellar from a old property that used to be here before the school.

Inside the new classrooms—bright and spacious.

Ready for lessons.

In the last 6 months we have been able to spend over £1million to improve our premises. Most of this money has come from bids we have made to the government. The new ceilings, lights inside, windows, doors and the new building have all made a big improvement to our school as a place to learn and work. Thank you for your patience shown during the building works.
