Dear parents and carers,

Most of our pupils are now learning online and being taught by their teacher using Google Classrooms. The lessons are based on the work they were going to be taught this half-term. Children are also using resources that we sent home to record their learning in; thank you to parents who have collected them. Mrs Rai-Moore and I are working as hard as we can, with Mr Hasnat's help, to get as many laptops into homes as we can for families who need them. We have only a limited number of laptops given by the Government to share. Also through a Government scheme, we are asking mobile phone companies to give families who are eligible more data to have extra so that children can access the internet for longer when they are at home. If this would help you, please email the school. Children will be learning in this way until when the Government tells us otherwise and at least up to February half-term. Please support your child to follow our Behaviour Code of Conduct which is in the home learning section of our website. Your child should be ready each day for the start of every lesson.

Families who can have free school meals can receive their food parcel each week. These families will have received a text about this but send us an email us if you have any questions.

Some children of critical workers are still coming to school. We are encouraging parents who are critical workers, if they can, to also keep their child at home with a responsible adult. The more children we have in school the greater chance that the virus will spread. Please send me an email for more information about this if you wish your child to be considered for a place.

Our office team will continue to work at school but we ask you not to visit school in person unless you have made an appointment. For the time being, please contact the office either by telephone or email.

During this difficult and worrying time, please keep safe.

Yours faithfully

Jonathan Moore
