How homework works

3

homeworks every school day (15 a week)

30-40

minutes for each homework

2

a week in English,
Maths and Science

1

a week in most other subjects

Where to find your homework

On the lesson slides

Your teacher shows every homework in class.

On Google Classroom

Posted on the same day it is set.

In your planner

Write it down every time. Your teacher will check.

How to do it

Handwrite it in your exercise book (except Seneca tasks and your extended project).

Sparx Maths: write all of your working in your maths homework book.

Spend 30-40 minutes on each homework and hand in your best work.

Stuck? Ask your teacher before the deadline, not after.

For parents and carers

Each homework should take 30-40 minutes, so about 1½-2 hours an evening. Every task is in the planner and on Google Classroom. In the first few weeks, look at the planner together each evening while the routine becomes a habit. Questions about a task? Please contact the subject teacher.

What kind of homework will I get?

BEFORE A NEW TOPIC

Pre-learning to get you ready

EACH TOPIC

One longer piece of writing, such as a report, letter, article or essay

EACH TOPIC

One longer text to read, with questions, including one that asks what you think

BEFORE A TEST

Revision activities

AFTER A TEST

Feedforward tasks to help you improve

EACH TERM

One careers homework

EACH YEAR

One extended project, explored in depth

SOMETIMES

Online tasks such as Seneca, never more than a quarter of your homework

Every homework is a clear task: never just 'revise' or 'research', and never finishing off classwork unless your teacher has planned it that way.
