

Reading Challenge

Friendship

One of the good things to come out of the unusual circumstances of 'lockdown' is the reporting of neighbours helping each other and forging new friendships.

We all miss our friends and this experience has made us appreciate and value our friends even more. We may have all been able to keep in touch via social media and this can play a valuable part in maintaining friendships, but I am sure we all look forward to see our friends face to face.

Below are some books about friendships that you might like to read. Indeed there are so many books about friendships as it is such an important part of our well-being. Reading about friendships can inspire and/or reassure us. Friendships don't always run smoothly but communication is key. Friends sometimes come and go but you might find you keep a friendship for many years, which is something truly special.

Books marked with * can be found on the Wheelers ePlatform

- Friends by Nicola Morgan (nonfiction self- help book)
- Darius the Great is Not OK by Adib Khorram*
- Someone Like You by Sarah Dessen
- Of Mice and Men by John Steinbeck*
- Charlotte's Web by EB White*
- The BFG by Roald Dahl*
- Lost and Found by Oliver Jeffers
- The Bunker Diary by Kevin Brooks*
- The Outsiders by SE Hinton