A LEVEL PSYCHOLOGY MOCK EXAM REVISION GUIDE

Year 13s will sit two papers in January:

- Paper 1: Foundations in Psychology - covers social, cognitive, biopsychology and learning theories. (There will be no section E: issues and debates and so the paper is worth 70 marks and will last 1.5 hours, rather than being worth 90 marks and lasting for 2 hours.)
- Paper 2: Applications of Psychology - covers clinical psychology only and so is 1 hour 15 minutes long and will be worth 54 marks. The only content that will not appear on the clinical section is anything related to the key question or practical investigation. (You won't be given the option units (criminal) which is why the paper is not 2 hours long.)

Students have covered all the necessary material needed to complete the mock exams successfully. They also have:

- a copy of the textbook - Edexcel AS/A level Psychology edited by Karren Smith
- can use www.psychologywizard.net which is specifically designed for the Edexcel specification. Additional useful websites are included in the study skills handout
- exam packs compiled for each section for paper 1
- emailed copies of all past papers
- a list of A02 questions covering all units
- checklists for each unit/ specification which was given at the start of the course.
