Today's Task

Create a collage inspired by Richard Hamilton's 'Interiors' artworks, imagining a room that shows off today's society in a particular way.

Sketch out a 3D room outline on your cartridge paper.

Go through your magazines / newspapers and source some background colours / textures and items that you might want to include in your collage. What will be your theme? Do not stick them down!

Think about balance of the image - how do each of the smaller images interact with each other? Are some areas too busy? Too plain? Where can you overlap different elements of the collage to create detail and draw the viewer's eye around the image?
