Dear Parents and Carers,

First of all, a heartfelt thank you for your continued support during this incredibly important time for our Year 11 students. Your encouragement and commitment to ensuring pupils are in school every day—and taking full advantage of the extra revision sessions—has made a real difference.

We have seen students in the building as early as 7:30am and staying as late as 6:00pm, showing just how dedicated they are. This would not be possible without the support from home, and we are truly grateful. Every revision session, every extra bit of effort, plays a significant role in building confidence and boosting performance.

Thanks to the relentless commitment of both staff and students, our most recent Year 11 data track suggests that this cohort is on track to achieve the best results the school has seen in years. This success is the result of staff going above and beyond—offering their time during evenings, weekends, and holidays—and pupils showing exceptional resilience, determination, and positivity.

We would also like to extend a huge thank you to our exams team and invigilators, whose tireless work ensures everything runs smoothly behind the scenes; Mrs Bott for coordinating everything and going above and beyond to ensure no stone is left unturned in terms of exam readiness and Ms Ross for providing all of the emotional and pastoral support to our year 11s.

As we return from half term, we recognise that some pupils may feel less motivated to attend school, especially as exams draw to a close. However, we want to stress that it remains absolutely worthwhile for students to be in school right up until their final exam. The vast majority still have multiple exams left, and Mrs Bott has worked diligently to ensure every student receives targeted revision sessions ahead of each one. For subjects that are already completed, subject leads have provided meaningful and structured revision work to keep students focused and engaged.

We truly believe these final days and sessions can make a real difference. Thank you, once again, for your ongoing support in encouraging your child to attend school and make the most of every opportunity available to them.

As a small gesture, pupils will not be required to wear school uniform after the half-term break. In order to conform to JCQ standards, pupils must ensure they do not wear jumpers with big pockets, ripped jeans or items with slogans or lots of writing. In return, we would really appreciate any donations of school blazers or ties that you no longer need. These items help us ensure we have plenty of spare uniform available for pupils who may need it now or in future years.

Warm Regards

Anna Hughes
