BURTON AGNES CE PRIMARY SCHOOL

Friday News

A Note from Mrs. Jameson

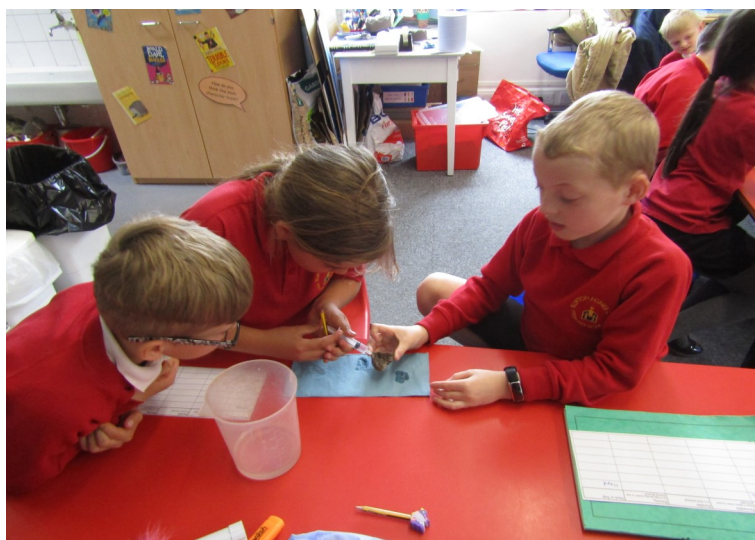

You may be aware through the media that this week has been Mental Health Awareness Week.

At Burton Agnes we consider this to be a priority in all of the things that we do every day, every week.

We are proud that our curriculum promotes all aspects of personal, social, emotional and economic wellbeing along with promoting effective mental health strategies. Through our Happy Centred Schools Programme, through our topics in worship, through the books that we read, through our school values of friendship care and trust and the way that we support and interact with each other, we address many issues that make children feel safe and happy, seeing happiness as a life skill.

We will shortly be sending you information that is linked to our Happy Centred Schools Programme that you may find a useful read to help you promote the core themes of Self confidence, Achievement and Success, Support, Positive relationships and Coping

In School this week.....

Class 3 having been demonstrating great science knowledge this week and have been carrying out investigations relating to the properties of rocks. The children worked hard to predict and test out their ideas and from their findings draw conclusions about how different types of rocks can be used.

Class 1 have been learning about the artist Vincent Van Gough and looking at some of his techniques.

Class 2 have been working hard on their story writing this week, inspired by the book Last stop on Market Street. They have been very excited by their learning and their vocabulary choices have been amazing.

Class 4 have been developing their computing skills and are building up to creating some animations using the ipads.

Over the course of the term the children will be designing and making multi-scene animation and creating story boards to go with them. They will learn how to edit an animation and how to add and refine special effects.

They have demonstrated some excellent team work too as they have embarked on this learning. Well done!

Another step in the right direction

On Monday we see further restrictions that are in place to help manage the Covid 19 outbreak being lifted. Whilst this brings about so many things that we have missed, I for one can't wait to sit inside my mums house and have a cup of tea with her, we need to remain sensible and cautious. I attended a briefing with Public Health England this week who carefully explained that it is highly likely over the coming weeks we see infection rates going up, particularly in schools where many parents have not yet been vaccinated. Please ensure that as always you have plans in place in case we need to close bubbles at short notice. Thank you all for your continued support—you have been fantastic. Let's work together and keep up the good work so that we all stay healthy, safe and in school.

Have an enjoyable weekend
