Friday News

A note from Mrs Jameson

It has been another busy week at Burton Agnes, with children working hard and engaging with new curriculum topics. We hope that the curriculum overviews shared in our previous newsletter have provided you with valuable insights into your child's learning experiences for the term ahead.

Last week, we welcomed visitors from Ofsted to our school. Their observations and feedback are integral to our ongoing commitment to improving our school. We anticipate being able to share the outcomes of their visit with you in around a month's time.

As always, we appreciate your continued support and involvement in your child's education. With this in mind we hope that you received the letter yesterday, inviting all parents and guardians to our forthcoming Parents' Evening, scheduled for Thursday, 12th February, from 3.30 PM to 7.30 PM. This event presents a valuable opportunity for you to engage with your child's teachers and gain insights into their academic progress and personal development. We look forward to welcoming you and working together to support your child's learning.

Engaging with Environmental Awareness: Class 1 and 2's Exploration of the Arctic

Recently, children in Class 1 and Class 2 had the privilege of working with our regular visitor, Mr. Dave Rockett, to delve into the fascinating subject of the Arctic and the pressing issue of climate change. During this session, the children were captivated by Mr. Rockett's insights into the balance of our planet's ecosystems and the importance of preserving the ice caps.

The children actively participated in exciting investigations designed to enhance their understanding of the factors contributing to the melting of the ice caps. Through hands-on activities and engaging discussions, they explored the impact of global warming and the role of human activity.

This initiative not only fostered a sense of curiosity among the children but also instilled a sense of responsibility towards environmental stewardship allowing the children are better equipped to contribute positively to the future of our world.
