This week in schoolWe have enjoyed another full on week at school with the year groups that have been allowed to return along with Year 3 & 4 children and Hawks Year Fives attending their visit sessions. The year 6 children had a virtual assembly this week with our local author, Dan Worsley who shared some super stories, topped tips and answered lots of questions. Thank you, Dan for an exciting afternoon via Zoom.

We also held socially-distanced tree parties this week with lots of nature themed lunches included leaf sandwiches, cucumber trees, tree cookies and oreo trees. Thank you to EFYS and KS1 for dressing our trees so beautifully!

Next week, we sadly say goodbye to our year 6's who have just been an incredible year group! They really will be missed. They are welcome to wear their leaver's hoodies next week. As we can't do our normal end of Primary school events for our beloved Year Six's we are to have a special lunch at school on Friday as our treat made by our school kitchen 'Feeling Peckish'. We will though be inviting them back to provide a proper celebration evening in the Autumn and hope that they won't have forgotten about us too quickly and want to come. Next week our Key Worker group (Year 2,3,4 & 5) need to come to school wearing clothing suitable for outdoor activities.

A huge thank you everyone for entering this years' Got to Dance 2020-The Virtual Year, Voice and Musician of the Year competitions. We had a lot of entries and the standard was very high.

Please look at our website for some information our Eco Committee wanted to share with you all. Carleton Green Goes Green (CGGG) underpins a lot of what we do in our school. Our school kitchen is supporting by using the vegetables grown in the lunch menu. We feel it is sad that we don't have more children eating school meals and would like to know of any meals you would like to be included in our menus to entice more to enjoy them. We also will welcome ideas about ways in which we can be more self sufficient as a school. Today, Mrs Hicks and I spent the morning beachcombing with families picking up plastic that had been mindlessly left behind. We are to sort the items collected and identify the sources to help raise awareness of how plastic can end up in seas and oceans. I have spent time at our local beach most mornings before school during lockdown and feel that we are incredibly fortunate to have a place of beauty so close. We really want to instill in our future generations the need to care for our locality. All those that came today to help collect plastic have earned a stamp against each of our Carleton Codes as their actions today demonstrated that they are true Carleton children. We will award the same to any of our pupils that demonstrate or perform actions that support our CGGG mission.

Wanting to boost home learning? White Rose Maths have released a set of workbooks for parents to do with children at home over summer. There are different ones for each year group and topic area. These can be downloaded for free by googling White 'Rose Parent Workbooks' or they can be downloaded to an E-Reader from Amazon, again free of charge.

E-safety Notice ~ We ask that parents keep an eye on what sites children are accessing on social media to help keep all safe.
