

10 unusual questions to make you think

ACPs and VAAs: Intellectual confidence, Fluent thinking, Open-minded and Big picture thinking

There are NO right or wrong answers to these questions. You need to think about your answers and be able to justify them. In other words, don't say the first thing that comes into your head and be prepared to fully explain your answers when you give them.

Does everything have a taste?

Is war a good thing?

Should stupid people be allowed to vote?

Which is the more pointless thing to do – make a wish or stand on a ladder to try to touch a star?

Does air weigh anything? If yes, do I weigh less when I breathe out?

Can you stand on the same beach twice?

What is the most important part of a fork?

If I lose my memory, am I the same person?

If we end up without enough water for all the people in the world, is that because there is not enough water or too many people?

If I composed a piece of music but it was never played, would it still be music?

Can you think of anymore questions to make you think?

We want to thank Benjamin Sharratt from GEMS Wellington International School for sharing a presentation we adapted for these questions.
