Dear Parents/Carers,

As we near the end of our first week back at school it is with gratitude and sadness that we reflect upon the death of Her Majesty, The Queen. Over the days and weeks ahead, and during this period of national mourning we will as always support our pupils and families.

We have ensured that staff have been undertaking reflection with children in class, and that resources to support families at this time are available on our school website should you wish to access them. If, however you have any individual concerns for your child please do contact your child's class teacher via email and we will support all we can.

Despite the current sadness it has been a privilege to welcome our children back to school this week, they all look so smart in their uniforms. It has also been lovely to welcome new families to Early Years and across the school and I hope that all the children have enjoyed their first week.

We are, as a nation, now entering a period of national mourning and as soon as further information is shared with schools, this will be communicated with you and made available on the school website.

Kindest regards

Joanne Hewson
Headteacher
