On this Day - 1785 Benjamin Franklin announces his invention of bifocals

Dear parents, carers and families,

Firstly, well done to everyone on a successful term. We have seen lots of learning take place across the school, the children have worked really hard, and next term will be their last in their current year group. This week our Year 4 children will be visiting Bushcraft for the day on Wednesday, they will be taking part in adventurous and team building activities. On Thursday it is Elm Class parent assembly. We are still having these remotely and the video of the assembly will be sent out to Year 1 parents on Thursday. Finally for this week, Friday is a training day and the children are not in school.

Next week, during half term is the Queens platinum jubilee as a school we would like to mark the event this coming Thursday on 26th May. All children are invited to wear red, white and blue clothes. If you do not have clothes of these colours the children can wear their school uniform. We will be having a picnic lunch that day and the children will be completing activities in class to mark the event.

The children in Year 5 and Year 6 are completing Bike ability this week. This will mean there will be more bikes in school and on the bike racks. This may mean it is more difficult, but will only be the next few days. Over the next few days it will be crucial that we maximise the space and use all the racks available.

Thank you to everyone who supported the SOCs uniform swap last week, I hope some of you managed to get some useful uniform. After the half term SOCs have organised for a book fair to come to school. It will be in the purple hall after school from Monday 13th June until Wednesday 15th June.

Attendance for last week was really good. All classes were 95% or above, which is where we expect the children to be, it is great and we hope they continue to improve. Our punctuality is mixed, some classes have very few pupils arriving late, whilst other classes have a high number across the week.

With best wishes for the week ahead,
Kate Yeoman.
