

Chisenhale Chatter

Chisenhale Primary School Bow

11/3/22

I hope you enjoyed the World Book Day newsletter last week along with the class videos. It was a fabulous day and even included a special lunch menu.

This week we started by celebrating women in our whole school assembly on Monday in readiness for International Women's Day on Tuesday. I showed the children pictures of women whom I admire and was so impressed that they knew all of them. This included Marie Curie, Coco Chanel, Mother Teresa, Jane Austen and Malala Yousafzai.

The Early Years children have been off to Spitalfields Farm this week. They came back so full of their adventures seeing 'giant chickens', noisy donkeys and feeding goats. They also have some very special visitors hatching in their classroom!

Artburst were in Year 4 this week. The children spent the day doing art and are now not convinced they need to do anything other than that in school.

Gemma, the new headteacher, spent the afternoon in school on Wednesday. She was able to meet the senior leadership team and visit the children in the classrooms. She is going to pop in over the next few weeks as part of the handover process.

We will be having a session for parents and carers on Friday 18th March covering children's mental health and wellbeing and the school approach to managing emotions - the Zones of Regulation. All welcome in the library. Have a good weekend, Sharon

We didn't include the praise postcards names in the special Chatter last week so these are the names for the past two weeks:
