What a great week!

It is so special to have everyone back in school. To see the faces (or for some people half of their face above the mask), and hear the voices chime around the school.

The children have settled back into their classes and seem delighted to see their friends and teachers in real life. Lunches have been a challenge this week working out the new timetable and getting all of the children served in the hall. But it is working, with a few tweaks across the week. We are actually moving to a new company after the Easter break called NOURISH. I had a meeting with them today and they have met the staff too, as they are all staying with us. We will be emailing the new menu for you to see soon and are very excited to be working with them. The menu is a four-week menu, has more options for the children to choose from and we even have a dessert on a Friday! There is Meat Free Monday and Sugar Wise Thursday each week, and I feel much more thought goes into the building of the menus, the sourcing of the food and the consideration of what the children might actually like. Alongside trying to ensure the children try different foods and, of course, have a nutritious diet.

Friday is Red Nose Day and we are SHARING A SMILE. Each class will spend the afternoon engrossed in activities involving making each other laugh and smile. Working collaboratively, being kind, creative and sharing. We will share our smiles with you via the newsletter and website! The play spaces are taking shape, and there is just a little more work to be done before we can take ownership. Thanks to all of the parents for their lovely comments.

Have a fantastic weekend. Spring is in the air.

We will continue to sell Red Noses at the gates until they are all gone. We will also have some at the office. They are £1.50 each. Please keep them at home until next Friday if you have bought one, to keep them safe. Because the new noses are plastic-free, they seem less durable than the old ones. We have had requests to replace broken noses but unfortunately, we are not able to do this, as all the money raised from their sale goes directly to Comic Relief.

The following children will be receiving a praise postcard this week:

Sprouts - Aahil and Georgina

Broccoli - Imogen and Aiyaz

Curly Kale - Jaineel and James

Beetroot - Ellie and Umamah
