Chisenhale Primary School Bow

Learning Together for a Better Future

28/2/20

A warm welcome back from a blustery half-term break. I hope everyone kept their fences up, and roofs intact. We began our week with an introduction to Eco Schools from Vanessa Stockley, which got the children talking, and they are voting for class representative by the end of this week. We also had the exciting news, delivered by the brilliant Rights Respecting Counsellors, that we achieved our Rights Respecting School Gold status.

Early Years all made pancakes to mark Shrove Tuesday and Lavender Class had people from Rich Mix starting to make a film with them. We had 72 new Chromebooks (laptops) delivered with trolleys to house them, thank you so much to the PTA for their fantastic fundraising that made this possible.

We sent out a letter yesterday outlining the government's advice regarding the coronavirus and will keep you updated if we receive any further guidance. In the meantime, the most important message is to ensure everyone washes their hands frequently with hot water and soap.

Don't forget we are dressing up next Thursday for World Book Day and you are invited to see the children parade in their costumes first thing in the morning.

Have a great weekend,

Sharon Taylor-Sezgin      Headteacher

Sport Relief - Friday 13th March

We will be having a Chisenhale Challenge! The children will come to school dressed in their sports gear to take part in a number of class and individual challenges throughout the day. We will be asking that you make contributions to Sport Relief on the day.

Gold award carnival

To celebrate achieving the Rights Respecting School GOLD Award, we are extending our traditional Easter Bonnet parade to a Carnival! We plan to parade around the streets rather than just the playground. We want the children to wear carnival clothes with a rights and carnival theme (Easter Bonnets can be incorporated too!). We are thinking shakers, shiny, gold and sustainable with costumes made from natural or recycled materials. At carnival anything goes, so encourage your children to use their imaginations and search the house for wings, headdresses, cloaks and regalia to re-purpose. This will be on the morning of the last day of term, Friday 3rd April, and will be followed by our termly Family Day where you are invited into school to share some learning for the rest of the morning.

M&S are currently running a promotion offering free seeds – gardening club would be very happy to receive any spare seeds you might collect.
