This means the Trust determines the purposes for which, and the manner in which, any personal data relating to pupils and their families is to be processed.

In some cases, we may share your data with a third-party processor; however, this will only be done with your consent, unless the law requires the Trust to share your data. Where the Trust outsources data to a third-party processor, the same data protection standards that the Trust upholds are imposed on the processor.

The Trust contact for data protection queries can in the first instance be contacted on 01772 817904 or via email: enquiries@endeavourlearning.org.

Why do we collect and use your information?

The Endeavour Learning Trust holds the legal right to collect and use personal data relating to pupils and their families. We may also receive information regarding pupils and their families from any previous schools, LA and/or the DfE. We collect and use personal data in order to process the data lawfully as set out in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and UK law.

When a pupil transitions from nursery to primary and then to secondary school, we have a legal obligation to transfer certain personal data. This includes the pupils educational record and certain special categories of personal data such as ethnic origin. This data is transferred to the secondary school that the pupil will attend. This transfer will take place no later than 15 school days after the pupil ceases to be registered at the primary school. It is carried out using secure file transfer services including the Department for Education's school-to-school (S2S) system and the Child Protection Online Monitoring and Safeguarding system (CPOMS).

However, it is often necessary or beneficial for secondary schools to receive this information earlier, usually in March, so they can make the necessary preparations for the arrival of new pupils.

In respect of any information which the secondary school requires in order to fulfil its duties as a school and a public authority (including any information necessary to make any preparations for safeguarding purposes or to make reasonable adjustments for disabilities), our legal basis for transferring this information is that it is necessary for the performance of a public task.

Additional personal data about the pupil may also be transferred to the secondary school, which is not strictly necessary for the secondary school's performance of its duties as a public authority, but which makes the process of transitioning from primary to secondary school more efficient and reduces the administrative burden both for the schools and, in some cases, the parents or guardians of the pupil. In this respect, our legal basis for transferring this information is that it is necessary for the legitimate interest of both us and the secondary school in ensuring the smooth transition of pupils between the schools.

You have the right to object to this early transfer of information by contacting us and, if you do, we will only carry out this transfer where we can demonstrate that we have compelling, legitimate grounds to do so. Grounds for this are stated below:

For non-special/non-sensitive data:

- In relation to a contract for education with you and contained in the Education Act 1996.
- In relation to management of the school under the Education (Governor's Annual Reports) (England) (Amendment) Regulations 2002 SI 2002, No 1171.
