

LPPA Award

Prospects' Leading Parent Partnership Award has been promoting excellence in parent partnership in schools and other educational settings since 2003. Now it is also contributing to schools' inspection successes, as Ofsted presents new challenges in its requirements for parental engagement.

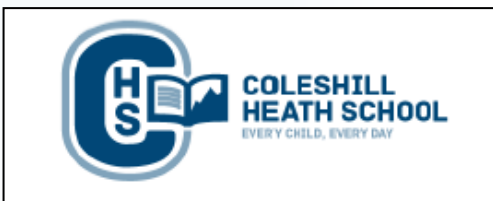

The LPPA received recognition from the DFES in 2005 following an evaluated pilot project, and now over 800 schools and educational settings are involved.

The Programme is delivered by trained LPPA Advisers and high standards are maintained through a consistent quality assurance process

LPPA supports the delivery of the Every Child Matters and Extended Schools agendas.

The Award is a key tool for school self-evaluation, complements the standards required by Ofsted, Chartermark, Investor in People and other national awards.

Introducing the Leading Parent Partnership Award at

The LPPA is a nationally recognised award which will improve our communication with families and help to support them more effectively.

We shall be working towards achieving a national award called the Leading Parent Partnership Award (LPPA).

The LPPA is a nationally recognised award achievable by schools who work closely with the families of their pupils.

This award looks at how well we work with parents and carers, how welcoming the school is, and how we support parents in helping their child to learn.

We aim to improve communication with parents and the community. We want to support parents and children to extend their learning and to encourage a greater input and more involvement of parents in school life.

Why will the award make a difference in our school?

We will become a better school. By consulting with parents and involving them more with their child's education.

This will improve our standards and encourage ongoing partnerships.

How can you help us achieve this award?

- Read all our newsletters and letters which we send out.
- Attend as many events as you can and provide feedback on why you can not attend.
- Inform us of anything you think we need to be aware of.
- Complete any questionnaires honestly and return promptly.

The LPPA Programme focuses on enhancing parent partnership through:

- Ensuring the school is a welcoming and friendly place for parents and guardians.
- Holding and actively promoting developing opportunities or events for joint parent and child activities.
- Providing information and guidance to parents to help them support their own and their child's learning.
- Consultation and communication with parents and guardians.
- Involving parents in specific assemblies and celebration events to celebrate their child's achievements.
- Promoting and rewarding good attendance, progress in education and positivity in school.
- Evaluating performance against the leading Parent Partnership Award.
