Book Week

This week we have thoroughly enjoyed the excitement of Book Week. All the children have been visited in class by an author or a storyteller in class. Monday saw Robin Price visiting the older children for some historical story writing. We were also delighted to welcome Giles Abbott back for his amazing story telling. On Tuesday, we were joined by author and actor Andrew Clover who entertained Years 1-6 with his 'Seven Secrets of Storytelling' show, after which the children wrote their own stories. The day ended with Andrew performing the best of the stories, to a delighted audience.

Book Swap gave all children access to a book that was new to them and Dulwich Books provided our World Book Day Book Fair. Local author (and former CC parent) Gabby Dawnay shared her beautiful new book 'If I had a Sleepy Sloth' with the younger children in the school.

Today was the highlight of course. The costumes of our children are always incredible, and you can look out for some of the most impressive ones on twitter, thank you for all your support and creativity! A very big thank you as well to Mrs Stevens-Cox for organising all the events this week.

Coronavirus

The school is being kept updated about the coronavirus outbreak, staff have been briefed and we have made changes to daily routines around cleaning and hygiene including teaching the children the importance of regular handwashing and using hand gel. We have implemented a regular routine of disinfecting door handles and light switches to minimise risk. We would like to encourage parents to talk to their children about the importance of these routines and staying healthy without raising undue alarm. Guidance on this can be found on the school's website. We also request that every child brings a small packet of tissues with them to school personal use.
