ORGANISATION AND PLANNINGStrategies*Implementation of National Curriculum 2014

In the National Curriculum for 5 - 11 year olds, Geography is developed through a topic based approach that seeks to make cross curriculum links to other areas of learning.

Curriculum Organisation

The curriculum will be delivered through a topic based approach. Each year group will decide the topics that best deliver the programme of study. In the Infants the unit of Barnaby Bear is a fun, relevant way to build on the children's existing knowledge. The Infants study our locality and the seaside. In the Lower Juniors the children study the weather, village settlement in the UK and contrasting country; they also study the Local area/region. The Upper Juniors study the mountain environment, rivers and water, and a global contrasting location. (South America)

At Key Stage One (Years 1 and 2)

Pupils should develop knowledge about the world, the United Kingdom and their locality. They should understand basic subject-specific vocabulary relating to human and physical geography and begin to use geographical skills, including first-hand observation, to enhance their locational awareness.

Pupils should be taught to:

Locational knowledge

- name and locate the world's seven continents and five oceans
- name, locate and identify characteristics of the four countries and capital cities of the United Kingdom and its surrounding seas

Place knowledge

- understand geographical similarities and differences through studying the human and physical geography of a small area of the United Kingdom, and of a small area in a contrasting non-European country

Human and physical geography

- identify seasonal and daily weather patterns in the United Kingdom and the location of hot and cold areas of the world in relation to the Equator and the North and South Poles
- use basic geographical vocabulary to refer to:
 - key physical features, including: beach, cliff, coast, forest, hill, mountain, sea, ocean, river, soil, valley, vegetation, season and weather

o key human features, including: city, town, village, factory, farm, house, office, port, harbour and shop

Geographical skills and fieldwork

- use world maps, atlases and globes to identify the United Kingdom and its countries, as well as the countries, continents and oceans studied at this key stage

- use simple compass directions (North, South, East and West) and locational and directional language [for example, near and far; left and right], to describe the location of features and routes on a map
- use aerial photographs and plan perspectives to recognise landmarks and basic human and physical features; devise a simple map; and use and construct basic symbols in a key
- use simple fieldwork and observational skills to study the geography of their school and its grounds and the key human and physical features of its surrounding environment.

At Key Stage Two (Years 3-6)

Pupils should extend their knowledge and understanding beyond the local area to include the United Kingdom and Europe, North and South America. This will include the location and characteristics of a range of the world's most significant human and physical features. They should develop their use of geographical knowledge, understanding and skills to enhance their locational and place knowledge.

Pupils should be taught to:

Locational knowledge

- locate the world's countries, using maps to focus on Europe (including the location of Russia) and North and South America, concentrating on their environmental regions, key physical and human characteristics, countries, and major cities
- name and locate counties and cities of the United Kingdom, geographical regions and their identifying human and physical characteristics, key topographical features (including hills, mountains, coasts and rivers), and land-use patterns; and understand how some of these aspects have changed over time
- identify the position and significance of latitude, longitude, Equator, Northern Hemisphere, Southern Hemisphere, the Tropics of Cancer and Capricorn, Arctic and Antarctic Circle, the Prime/Greenwich Meridian and time zones (including day and night)

Place knowledge

- understand geographical similarities and differences through the study of human and physical geography of a region of the United Kingdom, a region in a European country, and a region within North or South America

Human and physical geography

- describe and understand key aspects of:

physical geography, including: climate zones, biomes and vegetation belts, rivers, mountains, volcanoes and earthquakes, and the water cycle

human geography, including: types of settlement and land use, economic activity including trade links, and the distribution of natural resources including energy, food, minerals and water

Geographical skills and fieldwork

- use maps, atlases, globes and digital/computer mapping to locate countries and describe features studied
- use the eight points of a compass, four and six-figure grid references, symbols and key (including the use of Ordnance Survey maps) to build their knowledge of the United Kingdom and the wider world
- use fieldwork to observe, measure, record and present the human and physical features in the local area using a range of methods, including sketch maps, plans and graphs, and digital technologies.

EYFS

The children learn about their place in the world through developing their knowledge and understanding of the world around them. They do this through topics that develop the skills of place and the vocabulary of location.

Teaching and Learning Styles

Geography teaching is mainly whole class based, and as cross curricular as possible. The focus of each lesson should be developing the children's geography skills. The cross-curricular links in Geography are strong – e.g. the handling of data and mapping co-ordinate skills are key maths areas. In information writing the children should look at place description and analyse journeys through their instruction writing

Planning

Planning is done on a half termly basis and reference is made to the coverage of the programme of study.

Resources

The main resources are the LCP units and the associated lesson plans. We have a Twinkl plus subscription that covers every unit and has cross curriculum links. These are supplemented with ICT resources from the BBC and Espresso. The Infants have specific resources devoted to Barnaby Bear. The importance of ICT in providing mapping resources is invaluable particularly google earth. An important resource in Geography is the children and families of Corpus Christi School, coupled with the vibrant multicultural city we all share. As a school we believe in off site learning. Every off site visit has a geographical aspect that should be addressed. Classes should particularly look at mapping skills and journey alternatives. Each Phase group has class sets of new atlases to help mapping skills.

Computing

The use of computing is a vital tool in delivery of the Geography curriculum. Computing can help supplement visits and take the children to places and cultures in the world that otherwise might not be possible. It is important to use computing when handling data collected when studying areas such as traffic or the weather. The use of chrome books and ipads in the teaching of mapping skills is to be encouraged.

REMOTE LEARNING

Teachers in each year group will together develop contingency plans to deliver the geography curriculum to pupils in the event that remote learning is required.

Contingency plans will:

- Use a curriculum sequence that allows access to high-quality online and offline resources and teaching videos and that is linked to the school's curriculum expectations
- Give access to high quality remote education resources
- Make use of the online tools that are consistently used across the school in order to allow interaction, assessment and feedback to pupils
- Provide printed resources, such as textbooks and workbooks, for pupils who do not have suitable online access
- Be inclusive of SEND pupils and their families

DIFFERENTIATION

In all classes there are children of differing ability. We recognise this fact and provide suitable learning opportunities for all children by matching the challenge of the task to the ability of the child. We achieve this through a range of strategies:

- setting common tasks that are open-ended and can have a variety of results;
- providing a range of challenges through the provision of different resources;

- utilising additional adults to support the work of individual children or small groups.
- Class teachers will also highlight those children on the gifted and talented register and consult the co-ordinator to extend their learning.
- The class teacher should liaise with the LSA to ensure that the children have access to specific geographical vocabulary.

ASSESSMENT FOR LEARNING

The coordinator will monitor the children's work in phase groups in the summer term, highlighting the coverage and delivery of the key skills.

When monitoring the planning we will be looking for coverage of the programme of study this should be noted down on the plans as a record of children's coverage of the curriculum.

MONITORING ARRANGEMENTS

Monitoring of standards of children's work and the quality of teaching is the responsibility of the subject coordinator supported by the Co-Headteachers and the Senior Leadership Team.

Standards will be monitored by:

- looking at pupils' work
- subject observations
- pupil discussions
- audit of subjects
- scrutiny of planning
- general curriculum discussions

INCLUSION

We believe that we are an educationally inclusive school as we are concerned about the teaching and learning, achievements, attitudes and well-being of all our pupils. We aim to provide places for all pupils who express a preference to join this school.

We work hard to offer equality of opportunity and diversity to all groups of pupils within school such as children:

- from both sexes;

- who have Special Educational Needs;
- who are looked after;
- from minority faiths, ethnicities, travelers, asylum seekers, refugees;
- who are gifted and talented;
- who are at risk of disaffection;
- who are young carers;
- who are sick;
- who have behavioural, emotional and social needs;
- from families who are under stress

We believe we have a duty to ensure that all children have equal rights to the opportunities offered by education and that all children will be encouraged to fulfil their potential in their academic, physical and creative achievements.

We want to give all children the right to access high quality educational experiences, to take part in a broad and balanced curriculum and to be part of the social life of the school.

We recognise that within the school we have more able, gifted and talented children. We believe that:

- more able children demonstrate a higher ability than average for the class and often require differentiated tasks and opportunities to learn through challenges;
- gifted children are those who have the ability to do well in more than one subject;
- talented children demonstrate an innate talent or skill in creative, cultural or sporting fields

We have an even greater obligation to plan and deliver well-structured lessons with appropriate assessment plus ambitious targets for pupils who have low levels of prior attainment or come from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Also, we have a duty to cater for pupils whose first language is not English by planning teaching opportunities to help them develop their English and to gain full access to the National Curriculum.
