

Religious Education Policy

Aims & Objectives:

At Delph Side, we believe that learning about religion and beliefs is an extremely important part of our broad curriculum as it shapes our children's knowledge and understanding of the world in which they live. Our teaching provokes challenging questions which contributes to children's personal development and promotes mutual respect and tolerance in a diverse society. The skills and attitudes taught throughout our RE curriculum make a significant contribution to children's Social, Moral, Spiritual and Cultural development, promote fundamental British Values and contribute positively to social cohesion.

By following Discovery RE at Delph Side, we intend that Religious Education will:-

- adopt an enquiry- based approach as recommended by Ofsted, beginning with the children's own life experience before moving into learning about and from religion.
- provoke challenging questions about the meaning and purpose of life, beliefs, the self, and issues of right and wrong, commitment and belonging. It develops pupils' knowledge and understanding of Christianity, other principal religions, and religious traditions that examine these questions, fostering personal reflection and spiritual development.
- encourage pupils to explore their own beliefs (religious or non-religious), in the light of what they learn, as they examine issues of religious belief and faith and how these impact on personal, institutional and social ethics; and to express their responses.
- enable pupils to build their sense of identity and belonging, which helps them flourish within their communities and as citizens in a diverse society.
- teach pupils to develop respect for others, including people with different faiths and beliefs, and helps to challenge prejudice.
- prompt pupils to consider their responsibilities to themselves and to others, and to explore how they might contribute to their communities and to wider society. It encourages empathy, generosity and compassion.
- develop a sense of awe, wonder and mystery.

Discovery RE brings together learning about and from religion, questioning and spiritual development in a comprehensive scheme of learning. Teaching strategies are varied and are mindful of preferred learning styles and the need for differentiation. Each enquiry starts from the children's own life experiences using these as a bridge into the investigation of the religion being studied.

Learning is assessed and children have opportunity to express their own thoughts and beliefs and empathise with believers of that religion or belief position.

Teachers ensure that the teaching of RE is tailored to meet the needs of all learners in their class. Activities are differentiated and challenge is provided for those who are Able and Talented.

Vocabulary:

Key vocabulary is identified for each unit of work. Vocabulary is constantly drip-fed into teaching by the teacher and children are encouraged to reference key vocabulary within their recording.

Recording:

RE Learning is recorded on Seesaw. Seesaw is used to show evidence of learning through the use of; photographs, mind maps, story-maps etc. All children's contributions are included. Discussions with children have shown that this method of recording helps children to retain new learning more effectively as the focus is on completing memorable activities rather than on writing at length.

Religious Education Policy

Enrichment:

At Delph Side, we believe that one of the ways in which our children learn best is through practical hands on experiences. As a result, RE trips form a key part of our whole school enrichment timetable. Y2 visit a local church, Y4 visit a cathedral in Manchester & Y5 visit a Mosque. In addition, we enjoy inviting a range of religious visitors into school to hold workshops and embed children's learning about different religions.

Assessment:

Teaching staff assess children's ability in RE during every lesson. Through asking targeted questions and listening to responses, and monitoring children's recorded work, teachers are able to make judgements against Age Related Expectations. Termly judgements are made and data is analysed by the subject leader to ensure that all children are making expected progress. The subject leader talks to teachers about children who are not working at the expected level and ways of helping these children to close the gap are discussed.

Subject Leader:

The RE subject leader is responsible for monitoring the quality of RE across the school. This is done through Pupil Attitudinal Questionnaires, looking through books with children and asking them to answer questions linked to key learning which has already taken place, lesson observations, discussions with staff and the monitoring of data.

The subject leader attends CPD forums and keeps up to date with current developments in the subject. Staff know that they can approach the subject leader for support with their teaching of RE.

The subject leader will report to the Headteacher and Governors on a termly basis to identify the current strengths and areas for development within the subject.

Withdrawal from RE:

Parents/carers have the right to withdraw their children from all or part of the Religious Education. Those parents/carers wishing to exercise this right are invited in to see the head teacher and RE Leader who will explore any concerns and discuss any impact that withdrawal may have on the child. The school will ensure that parents who want to withdraw their children from RE are aware of the RE syllabus and that it is relevant to all pupils, and respects their own personal beliefs. Parents will be made aware of the learning objectives and what is covered in the RE curriculum and should be given the opportunity to discuss this, if they wish. The school may also wish to review such a request each year, in discussion with the parents.

Equal Opportunities:

Teaching staff are committed to ensuring that all children, irrespective of ability, race or gender, are given full access to the Religious Education curriculum. Activities are differentiated by outcome, allowing all children to participate in lessons at a level which is appropriate to them.
