

Devizes Dispatch

Mr. Cave's weekly message:

Thank you to everyone who completed our uniform survey earlier this year- it's been really useful to get the perspective of parents, students and staff on our uniform protocols.

We want to give you all an important update at this stage, as we review the contents of the survey and explore our options moving forward. Listening to the feedback we have received, we have decided to trial some changes to our uniform expectations for the rest of the academic year, beginning on Tuesday May 5th.

These include a genuine choice between blazers or jumpers and changes to rules around ear piercings, jewellery and nails. The full details can be found in this week's dispatch email, and we will review these decisions as we work our way through to July. Once you've read this, if you have any questions then do please contact Mrs Fraser in the first instance.

This week has also seen our Year 12s complete their second round of assessments across their subjects, and a continuation of our formal GCSE process, with a week of French & Spanish speaking exams as well as the annual two day Art exam taking place yesterday and today. You can sense amongst many of our students that we're at the business end of their academic year, and we're doing all we can to support them in this final push.

We wish everyone a lovely bank holiday weekend.
