Thank you to all our amazing Ironman Volunteers, detailed information about arrangements for Sunday have been sent out to you today. If anyone else is out and about supporting athletes at this year's Ironman, give us a wave, we will be near the entrance to Queen's Park. Thank you to Ms Kilshaw for organising the feed station and for volunteering to be the Station Captain for the Day! Wishing our School Governor, Adam Gregory, all the best as he competes in the 70.3 race on Sunday!

If any pupils or parents/carers are running the Night Run tonight or Iron kids tomorrow, Good Luck! Please send in your pictures and we will share on next week's newsletter.

Next week at our Free Breakfast Club (8:30am-9:00am), it's data week. That means we receive funding based on the number of children who attend the club next week.

Every child who attends will be entered in a draw and have a chance to win one of a number of prizes, including a £25 Amazon Gift Card, a book of their choice and giant Cadburys Dairy Milk bars.

If you've never been to breakfast club before, why not try it next week, it is a great opportunity to socialise with your friends outside of the classroom, enjoy some tasty breakfast options and join in with a variety of fun activities.

Each child attending enters the draw for every day they attend, so if you come to breakfast club 5 times next week, you have 5 chances to win a prize.

Year 6 will be selling our delicious chocolate bark after school on Tuesday 9th and Wednesday 10th

Find us on KS2 playground!
Prices range £1-£2

This week we welcomed Abdulrauf S (Y3G), Roheemah S (Y3A) and Manahil N (EYFS) to Devonshire Road, we hope you have settled in well.

Our Y1 Mini Chefs Stay & Learn was a fantastic afternoon! The children enjoyed completing fruit-themed activities, designing and making their own fruit kebabs, and taking part in a fun picnic role-play with their families. Thank you to all the adults who joined us and supported the children with their D&T learning. It was wonderful to see so much enthusiasm, teamwork and learning taking place!

Y4 parents and carers recreated a piece of art in the style of Gillian O'Keefe. Pupils and parents used water colours and pastels to draw a close-up picture of a flower. Thank you to all parents and carers who were able to attend.

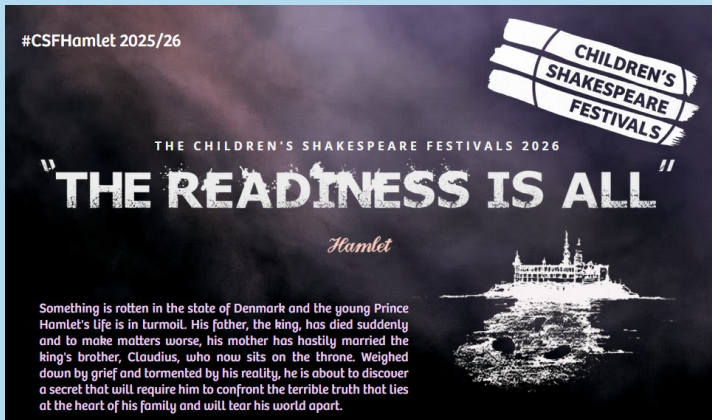

EYFS and Year 1 children had a fantastic time when the farm visited Devonshire Road Primary School. Farmer Dave brought two alpacas, goats, lambs, hens and ducks for the children to meet and learn about.

The children fed the alpacas and goats, bottle-fed the lambs, walked the alpacas around the playground and enjoyed stroking the ducks' soft feathers. Throughout the visit, they showed excellent manners, listening skills and turn-taking. We were incredibly proud of how well they represented our school and made the most of this wonderful experience.

Thursday 4th June
Write from a characters viewpoint.

Laertes is just a broken child in the body of a man, stranded in a monsoon of grief and woe, his rage seething, a bomb with an active fuse. His faulty sense of justice is easy to exploit, merely a pawn in my grand scheme. His sister drowned in the water, and he shall, and is, drowning in sorrow, just like his sister. His father was stabbed by Hamlet. He barely remembers the face of his mother. Everything has been stripped away from him. Now, it is just him, and the faint memories of these he couldn't save. But what happens when pain becomes a burning fury, being fed every day? Vengeance. Vengeance that can only be sated through killing the person who moulded them into a monster in the first place. Why should I risk all and abandon all ~~to~~ fight? Laertes is my puppet, yet he has not rubbed his eyes to see my true self. He ~~is~~ ~~for me, as for me and do~~ Vengeance is like a play, ~~someone~~ someone always holds the script. And I am that individual.

Thursday 4th June 2026
WALT to write from a characters viewpoint.

Laertes is weighed down by the chains of loss. His distress waiting to ventilate like a boiling cauldron filled to the brim - unpredictable, harsh, prone to outburst. And the man who was the origin of this blood curdling fury? Hamlet. Hamlet spilled his fathers blood. Hamlet ~~has~~ shattered his sisters heart and mind. What happens when ~~some~~ a mans Conscience is overtaken by rage? Vengeance, and this one is one of a kind.

Oh, Laertes has not ~~for~~ seen the silhouette of my plan, for grief has rendered him blind. I must strengthen his Cravings for revenge, my grasp over his mind has finally gotten control over him. Vengeance is a Journey of the a lifetime and I am the map. Laertes must believe he can kill, he must believe in me. But without my guidance, Laertes is just a student that has refused to learn but I will discipline him, train him and Corode his mind.

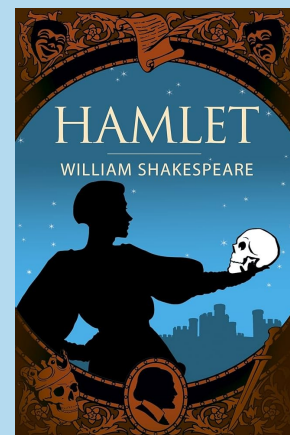

Poor young Laertes, foolish enough to the multitude of lies ive told him, for he believes he is pursuing Justice, but I know in truth his ambition is far from Pure and true and shall lead to a murder, a murder i have shyly avoided. To be or not to be, either way Hamlet will die, For even if Heaven cast out my soul, not on my dead ~~to~~ body will Hamlet lay a finger on this crown.

If God Judges, he shall Sudge me, for ruthlessness is mercy upon myself.

your father
Good bye sweet prince, now you and [^]shall roam the battle ments, the same one you thought would reveal the truth.

Year 6 have been continuing to show off their creativity within Shakespeare this week. We have written a soliloquy from one of the characters in Hamlet and these two examples from 6B blew the staff away! We definitely have some future authors in the making! Amazing work from Smart & Tyrese - well done!
