Weekly Bulletin - 17.4.26

Welcome back!

We hope you had a wonderful Spring break. The Summer term has started off exceptionally well; the children have returned eager to learn. The warmer weather is just around the corner and, with this in mind, please ensure that jumpers and cardigans are clearly named so that, should they become separated, we can reunite them! Year 4 are all ready for their residential, which leaves on Monday! We will provide updates on Facebook, so keep a look out!

Digital ambassadors update

The digital ambassadors have been looking at how we could reach out to parents with our e-safety message.

The children are preparing a power point presentation about this. They then plan to present this at the start of class assemblies this term to help parents learn about keeping safe online.

Watch out for our new message!

New Vic Competition

Many thanks to all parents who supported their children to enter this competition.

Lots of the children took their time to create some great pieces of work, including looking at the history of the New Victoria building, creating futuristic designs of what it might look like in the future, and even creating theatre masks.

All children who entered the competition will go forward into a prize draw, where the prize is a family ticket to see Around The World In Eighty Days., which is showing next month

The children who produce the best pieces of work will win the chance to go on a special behind the scenes trip on 15th May.

We will complete the draw next week and announce the winners - watch this space!

Fair trade - upcoming event

Our sustainability ambassadors are busy again, their next project is helping to educate others on Fairtrade produce. They are hoping to help on a special Fairtrade stall to celebrate World Fairtrade day on May 10th.

They will be promoting this event and encouraging us all to buy products with the Fairtrade trademark.

It would be great if you could start to point these out to your children when you are out shopping. We will be asking children to bring in wrappers for a display.
