

After several days, he finally arrived at his destination. He wondered around the graveyard looking for sign of the beast. His knees were trembling, teeth were chattering I was so scared on the way there was a skeleton hanging from a branch there was an old, wooden bridge which was swaying in the distance ahead. He was so scared. As he made his way through the forest there were vomit and tombstones surrounding him .There was dead bodies everywhere around him. He smelled vomit and maggots he must be getting closer to the beasts cave. At last, he reached the bridge which across it was the beasts cave. There was only one way to go. He had to cross the old, wooden bridge which was like a flag on a pole and he also knew that the gods were looking up above him.