

Deep in the Amazon Rainforest

As Tepui wandered into the Amazon Rainforest he found a jaguar stalking its prey. Whilst he was looking at it, a Blue Morpho Butterfly flew past his face. Then Tepui wondered bit more and found a monkey doing some acrobatics. Like a meteor, a Scarlet Macaw flew past the monkey. Then something pinched his foot and he let out a yell "OW!". It was a ginormous Hercules Beetle. He had accidentally stood on it. But after he had stood on it on it, it had pinched him because it got scared. When the jaguar chomped its prey all the other animals watched in shock as they were being as silent as they could be so they weren't eaten. Then a Kiskadee came flying down and did a cheerful song. On a tree, a sloth climbed very slowly to get a berry. Marching on the floor that had decayed leaves stood a soldier termite with a gun like snout ready to shoot a mysterious chemical. In the water lived a vicious piranha ready to nibble its next victim.
