

Deep in the Amazon rainforest

As Tepui wandered deeper into the rainforest he experienced wondrous sights.

Down on the forest floor, a jaguar was hiding in the mysterious darkness. The only thing you could see was its devil like red eyes. It also had beautiful black rosettes on its tannish fur. Luckily for the jaguar, it had razor sharp teeth which would crush anything in its way. Stealthily, the jaguar went to find some unlucky and unsuspecting prey.

Not far from the jaguar, a slimy and bright coloured tree frog slowly crawled down a leaf. The tree frogs eyes, which were orange like fire, were like beady big eyes. Amazingly, the tree frog had truly rare patterns on its side and front. Slowly and quietly, the tree frog leapt to the next branch while watching the jaguar quickly run past after its prey.

Skilfully, an ocelot climbed down into the underbrush. Quickly like a cheetah, the ocelot hid in the dark green philodendrons, just as the master of the jungle a jaguar ran past looking determined to catch its prey. Suddenly, 3 baby ocelots' kittens emerged from the safety of the philodendrons. Protectively the mother of the kittens stood in front of them while wrapping her tail around them.
