

DEEP IN THE AMAZON RAINFOREST

Deep in the Amazon rainforest, there were a lot of trees and animals that live there. In the steamy mist, a boa constrictor slithered across the exposed roots of an oak tree. Padding along fallen remains of a kapok tree, which was trapped in moss, a jaguar jumped from the tree to the river to get a drink.

A lazy sloth climbed down to the tree trunk .A Venus fly trap snapped at a butterfly and swallowed it whole. Beside a tree porcupine, a humming bird landed on a tree. A metre from the tree, a spider web shined like jewels.

Growling thunder, with rain like bullets, struck the sky. In the grey sky, a scarlet macaw rapidly flew to get to its nest. A toucan followed the macaw and landed on a branch.

Once the rain had passed, the toucan spread its wings which swayed elegantly up and down like the trees in the rainforest. It was flying in the mid night sky. The toucan flew over the tree tops.
