Head Lines

What a warm return to school we have had with this beautiful weather. We hope you all had an enjoyable half term break.

Classes have been visiting Chorley library this week and have enjoyed exploring the books and hearing stories from the staff there. It's been good to see the children getting library membership cards too as they have been very keen to return and borrow their own books. There is definitely a love of books and reading at Duke Street.

We were also very pleased to see Mrs Smith and her Farm on Countryfile last Sunday. It was really good to watch all the robots the children had seen during their recent visits and how the farm is embracing technology within farming. The episode can be viewed on the BBC iPlayer if you missed it.

Our Y1 and Y4 pupils have been busy completing their phonics and multiplication checks this week.

A big thank you again for all the welly donations that have been sent into school. The Green Team have been busy painting them today. Watch this space for what happens with them next.
