

Attainment targets

By the end of each key stage, pupils are expected to know, apply and understand the matters, skills and processes specified in the relevant programme of study.

Key stage 1

Pupils should be taught:

- to use a range of materials creatively to design and make products
- to use drawing, painting and sculpture to develop and share their ideas, experiences and imagination
- to develop a wide range of art and design techniques in using colour, pattern, texture, line, shape, form and space
- About the work of a range of artists, craft makers and designers, describing the differences and similarities between different practices and disciplines, and making links to their own work.

Key stage 2

Pupils should be taught to develop their techniques, including their control and their use of materials, with creativity, experimentation and an increasing awareness of different kinds of art, craft and design.

Pupils should be taught:

- to create sketch books to record their observations and use them to review and revisit ideas
- to improve their mastery of art and design techniques, including drawing, painting and sculpture with a range of materials [for example, pencil, charcoal, paint, clay]
- About great artists, architects and designers in history.

Throughout each year at Duke Street, each class will follow a process, where they will develop their skills and produce amazing work. Each year the children will follow a cycle, inline with our progression of skills documents. Over the course of the two year cycle, the children will experience and be exposed to a range of skills in Drawing, Sculpture/3D, Printing, Painting Textiles/collage and Digital Media

Each topic taught will be taught in the same, systematic way, where the children will develop their understanding of the artwork which they will need to produce, include the techniques needed. Then they will look at generating ideas to produce their own. Once they have decided on their designs that incorporate the techniques needed, they will produce their artwork. When they have completed their artwork, they will then evaluate their work, to make sure that it meets their expectations and that they have covered the necessary skills needed to be successful.

We really do hope that the children enjoy Art at Duke Street, and that they find a passion for being creative.
