Zones of Regulation Lesson 3: we were taught that all Zones are Okay

Review week – recapping our learning thus far

Zones of Regulation Lesson 4: we were taught to recognise the body signals which relate to our emotions and therefore the zones.

All emotions and Zones are Okay, but all behaviours are not. Please reinforce this message

In Lesson 5, we were taught that Zones Check-Ins can help us to pause and notice our signals, emotions and zones at different points throughout the day. Zones Check-Ins can make it easier to identify and communicate our feelings.

Consolidate learning via:

Numbots: for children in Year R & 1 (certificates in assembly every two weeks). Children in Year 2+ may still wish to play, though – subitising, bonds, addition and subtraction.

Times Table Rockstars: Year 2- 6 (certificates in assembly every two weeks). Just 10 minutes a night practice, over time, should really support your child's fluency in this truly important skill. Aim: super fluent in all tables & related facts to 12 by Year 4.

Spelling Shed: Year R to 6: weekly 'assignments' set, respective to your child's age/ability. Again, 10 minutes a night can really support their spelling accuracy in English writing lessons, freeing up more space to think creatively.

Read: read books, every night! Children of all ages. Arguably the most important of all. Whether it's phonics, a chapter book, or enjoying an information book together, please spread the love! Having some TV time? PUT THE SUBTITLES ON! Awesome family, shared reading.

Year 5/6: Study books. We know you can't wait Morpurgo...coming soon!

The Crown Pub: Earith

£40 donation to the school, via FOES, courtesy of the local pub. For every Sunday lunch cover (last Sunday), £1 was donated to the school and £1 to the Poppy Appeal. Thank You so much to the staff at the Crown for their generosity.

Medical Tracker

Running for a couple of weeks now. Never an email you want to get as a parent, but we hope it's landing well/proving more useful than bits of paper. Any feedback/qs, please speak to Mrs Rudwick.

Lost property

Check by Half Term; will be recycled after that.

Learning Highlights of the

Bryon Highlights:

This week, Bryon Class have enjoyed learning about the Jewish festival of Sukkot. They worked together to build a sukkah and created decorations to hang inside.

Yarlett Highlights:

Our class story times have been a highlight of the week this week, with children listening attentively and making thoughtful comments about what they have heard. They have been able to recall who was in the story and what happened to them. It was also exciting to see the Year 1s' focus and resilience when they were using their handwriting books for the first time on Wednesday. They were following along carefully with the formation of each letter and trying hard to keep the size consistent.

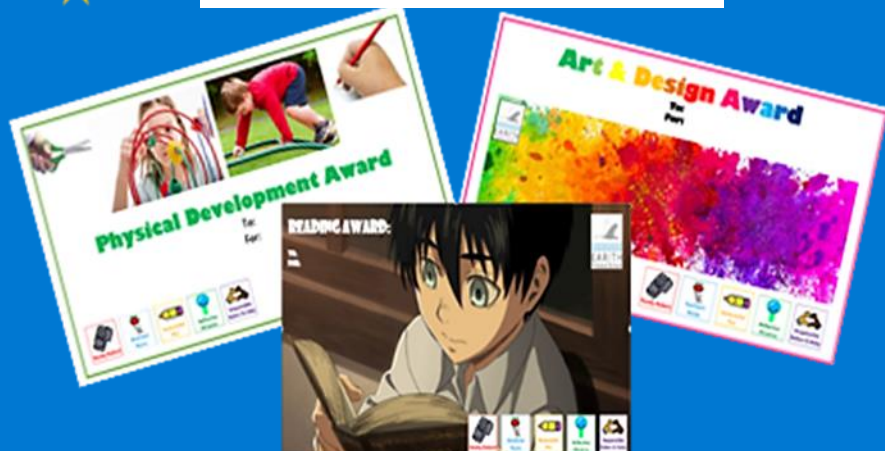

Blabey Highlights:

We have been quizzing this week in Blabey Class! We have consolidated our learning in History and Science to check what we can remember and challenge ourselves to make connections. We have also enjoyed learning about Zones Check-In in PSHE lessons, and have found them very useful to drip in through the day.

Morpurgo Highlights:

This week, Morpurgo Class have really enjoyed our new class reading book. With a slightly spooky atmosphere and a few gory moments, it's sparked lots of curiosity and discussion. The children have been so engaged that I often have chants of "One more chapter," when it's time to move on! It's been a joy to listen to their thoughts about the characters and plot. They're certainly invested in the story and are enjoying our reading time, together.
