1. Aims

The aims of relationships and sex education (RSE) at Educational Diversity are to:

- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies

2. Statutory Requirements

At Educational Diversity we teach students ranging from Y3 -Y11.

For primary aged learners:

- We must provide relationships education to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017.
- We are not required to provide sex education but we do need to teach the elements of sex education contained in the science curriculum.

For secondary aged learners:

- We must provide RSE to all pupils as per the Children and Social work act 2017.

For all learners, in teaching RSE, we must have regard to the guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

At Educational Diversity we teach RSE as set out in this policy.

3. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance.
2. Staff consultation – all school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations.
3. Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend drop sessions during parent consultation day to meet about the policy and / or to view the draft policy and offer feedback via links on our website.
4. Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RSE.
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with the Management Committee and ratified.

4. Definition

Relationships Education, taught to primary students, is about their emotional, social and cultural development, and involves learning about relationships, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity. Puberty and reproduction will also be taught in Y5 and Y6.

RSE, taught to secondary students, is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, sexual health, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity. RSE will link closely to science content where relevant.

Both Relationships Education and RSE involve a combination of sharing information, and exploring issues and values.

RSE is not about the promotion of sexual activity.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix 1 but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum in consultation with parents, pupils and staff, taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and don't seek answers online.

Primary sex education will focus on:

- Preparing boys and girls for the changes that adolescence brings
- How a baby is conceived and born

For more information about our curriculum, see our curriculum map in Appendix 1.

6. Delivery of RSE

RSE is taught within the personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education curriculum. Some biological aspects of RSE are taught within the science curriculum.

Relationships Education and RSE are taught within timetabled PSHE lessons, using a topic-based approach. Where appropriate, we invite trained healthcare professionals to contribute to the delivery of RSE.

A variety of teaching and learning methods are used, including discussion, small group and individual work allowing the students to participate and learn in a way that is comfortable for them. Lesson content will be adapted as required in response to student needs and / or experiences. This may include differentiating work for those with special educational needs and / or being sensitive around those who may have experienced trauma.

Adults working with our young people, formally or informally will be careful to ensure that their personal beliefs and attitudes do not influence them. Neither adults nor students will be expected to answer personal questions and any difficult questions will be answered honestly, sensibly and in a factual manner.

Relationships education focuses on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships including:

- Families and people who care for me
- Caring friendships
- Respectful relationships
- Online relationships
- Being safe

RSE focuses on giving young people the information they need to help them develop healthy, nurturing relationships of all kinds including:

- Families
- Respectful relationships, including friendships
- Online and media
- Being safe
- Intimate and sexual relationships, including sexual health

For more information about our RSE curriculum, see Appendices 1, 2 and 3.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and responsibilities

7.1 The Management Committee

The Management Committee will approve the RSE policy, and hold the Headteacher to account for its implementation.

- Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to RSE

- Monitoring progress
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-statutory/non-science components of RSE

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the Headteacher.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

For primary aged children:

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from relationships education.

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory/non-science components of sex education within RSE.

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 4 of this policy and addressed to the Headteacher.

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education.

For secondary aged children:

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory/non-science components of sex education within RSE up to and until 3 terms before the child turns 16. After this point, if the child wishes to receive sex education rather than being withdrawn, the school will arrange this.

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 3 of this policy and addressed to the Headteacher.

A copy of withdrawal requests will be placed in the pupil's educational record. The Headteacher will discuss the request with parents and take appropriate action.

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their induction and it is included in our continuing professional development calendar.

The Headteacher will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE.

10. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of RSE is monitored by Simon Coulter (Lead Teacher, Athena) through work scrutinies, learning walks and lesson observations.

Pupils' development in RSE is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems.

This policy will be reviewed by Simon Coulter annually. At every review, the policy will be approved by the Headteacher.
