

Preparing to study...

Performing Arts

Practical

Develop your skills and techniques and try learning a new style or art forms. Social media platforms are great for learning and there are many free videos and resources available.

Theory

To develop your knowledge of the Performing Arts industry, research into a range of different practitioners e.g. Stanislavski and Martha Grahame. Find out about what influence a practitioner has had on the industry and what pieces they have created.

Get Creative!

Use this time to be creative within your chosen art form. If you are a singer, write a song, if you are a dancer, create choreography and if you are an actor/actress, write your own monologue/play. What you are feeling and experiencing in these unusual times should inspire you to be original and imaginative.