Reading Quest.

Become a Reading Adventurer

At our school, we believe that reading regularly is one of the most important things children can do to become confident, successful readers. While children now take part in daily reading practice in school, we still ask parents to listen to their child read at least three times each week and to record this in their reading record. To encourage reading for pleasure, we have introduced our exciting Reading Quest system, where children complete three fun reading challenges each half term and earn badges and rewards along the way. Reading Quests are designed to celebrate and enrich children's reading experiences, but they do not replace regular home reading, which remains a vital part of helping children develop fluency, confidence and a lifelong love of books.
