Dear Parents/Guardians

19 May 2020

We hope all of our school community, families and friends are continuing to stay safe during the ongoing challenges that we are all faced with at this present time.

EID

We also take this opportunity to send our best wishes to our families who will be celebrating Eid.

Letter Sent to Parents/Guardians regarding pupil numbers in target year groups

If you have not responded to the request made in the letter sent out via Parentmail yesterday, please do so by 4 pm today.

Updated Home Learning

New resources are now available for each year group on the website under the tab 'Home Learning'. There are also resources under the Wellbeing, SEN and Explorers project sections. This week the focus continent for our Explorers project is Europe.

Children's Well-Being

As we enter week nine children may have lots of questions and worries. Please take a look at our well-being page under the Home Learning section. As well as some activities to help enquiring minds there is lots of guidance on how we can support our children during this time. Please take a look at our SEN tab for further resources and guidance.

It is also mental health awareness week hosted by the Mental Health Foundation and theme is kindness.

One thing that we have seen all over the world is that kindness is prevailing in uncertain times. The foundation are encouraging random acts of kindness and we would love to hear about acts of kindness you have carried out at home during lockdown. It could be ways you have kept in touch with someone, it could be supporting a neighbour, leaving a smile stone. Whatever it is tweet on twitter or email them to the well-being team on enquiries@boldmere.bham.sch.uk

Outdoor Classroom Day 21st May 2020

On Thursday 21st May, we were due to celebrate Outdoor Classroom Day at school. The day marks an opportunity to show how learning outside of the classroom engages and excites children in so many different and inspiring ways.

Please see the attached information sheet for ideas on how you can celebrate this day at home with your child.

White Rose Maths

Week 5's White Rose Mathematics resources are now available on the website. There are also alternative lessons available for years 3 and 4.

Reading at home

We hope that you are enjoying listening to the bedtime stories and that you are trying to read as often as you can. We cannot re-iterate the importance of daily reading enough and therefore we want to take this opportunity to share a resource that we have added onto each year group's learning page. This is a fantastic website which we have free access to during this period. It is called 'myon' and can be accessed through this link, or on your child's home learning page on the school website. <https://readon.myon.co.uk/>. There are over 7000 books for all ages – it is effectively a library in your own home! It is particularly good because you have the option to hear the books and new vocabulary is highlighted with a link to an easy online dictionary.

Also ...

Don't forget that you can still be working on our Book Explorers challenge that we launched to celebrate the school library's 40th birthday in Book Week. If you can't find your sheet, they will be added onto your year group's home learning this week.

And for something extra, why not take part in our secret reading challenge ...

While you're reading at home, it would be lovely to see some of the secret/special places that you read your books. Maybe you have a special reading den. We'd love to see photos of you reading in an unusual place. Tweet your photos by Friday, 29th May.

And finally ...

Watch this space for the Summer Reading Challenge which is organised by Birmingham Library. This usually takes place during the summer holidays, but this year it is starting (virtually) in June. Please see the attached flyer for more information.

Happy Reading!

Bedtime Stories

We continue to send video links of staff reading stories at regular times during the week. Some parents have reported that the links are ending up in the 'junk' section of their emails so double check!

Reassurance

Please can we take this time to reassure you and stress that the resources we are providing on the website are suggested activities and not an exhaustive list that you must work through. As we enter week 9 of school closures we are fully aware of the challenges that the current situation presents. The children's wellbeing is our priority and we know from telephone conversations recently that some families are finding these times difficult. As many of us are parents ourselves we are finding that we are observing happy, cooperative children one day and then awkward, non-communicative children the next! There are no rules during this unprecedented time except to say that our wellbeing should dictate our daily expectations as far as home learning is concerned. If your child is having a 'good' day then try home schooling but if this is not the case, then go outdoors, play, bake, or get crafty together!
