Ancient History

Pre 1066

Post 1066

Local History

At Ferndale we have structured our topics to be taught in the following order. We have chronologically ordered them depending on their period in history. So ancient history is chronologically ordered, pre 1066 is chronologically order and so forth. This will support children's development of chronological knowledge as they will be able to review previous learning/time periods in history and understand where periods of history sit in correlation to another. This is supported by timelines in books.
