Change some of the nouns (e.g. Paddington, Mr Gruber) for pronouns (e.g. his, him, he, himself)

Paddington went to see Mr Gruber at Mr Gruber's shop. Mr Gruber was very happy to see Paddington, so Mr Gruber and Paddington had a nice cup of tea and a slice of Mr Gruber's famous marmalade cake. Paddington liked Mr Gruber's cake so much that Paddington asked Mr Gruber if Paddington could have a copy of Mr Gruber's recipe. Mr Gruber was very happy to let Paddington have the recipe and Mr Gruber also gave Paddington a slice of cake to take home with Paddington. When Paddington got home, Paddington went into the kitchen and Paddington started to make Paddington's own cake straight away.
