

Induction

(noun)

- the action or process of inducting someone to a post or organization.

AND

- the process or action of bringing about or giving rise to something.

Etymology: late Middle English: from Latin inductio(n-), from the verb inducere 'lead into'

Synonyms

- Outset
- Inauguration
- Introduction

Sentences containing the word 'Induction' in different forms:

- The induction ceremony was held in the great hall.
- In 1831 Faraday began the investigations on electromagnetic inductions.
- Induction cooking is performed using direct induction heating of cooking vessels.

French translation:
accouchement

Antonyms

- End
- Expulsion
- Finish